

FORTY-EIGHT (48) F-16 FIGHTER JETS OVER BELGIUM WITH DOZENS OF ATTACK HELICOPTERS TODAY

HAL TURNER

07 September 2020

~ highlights added ~

At about 5:00 PM eastern US time today, there were about forty-eight (48) F-16 fighter jets, over various parts of Belgium! The jets were accompanied by literally dozens of military helicopters, from troop transports, to attack gunships.

To put this in perspective, the entire country of Belgium is about 11,000 square miles, slightly larger than the US state of Massachusetts, which is 10,000 sq. mi.

Here's a map to see for yourself how small that country is:

NEVER BEFORE have so many military aircraft flown over Belgium in peacetime.

None of us here at HTRS were sure as to why such a massive amount of air power was in the air today, but it seemed to us that, something must be up.

I reached out to my former colleagues within the Intelligence Community (IC) and what they told me shook me to my core.

For subscribers to this site, here is the Intel I received directly today:

PREMIUM CONTENT

As most of you know, for the past week or so, there has been a big bru-ha-ha over a Russian named Navalny, who opposes Russian President Putin, allegedly having been "poisoned." According to the man's family, they did not trust Russian Doctors to treat him, and asked that he be transferred to Germany for treatment, which the Russians allowed.

Upon arrival in Germany, word came out that Doctors found "definitive proof he was poisoned."

Shortly thereafter, rumors emerged that he was yet another victim of Novichok nerve agent poisoning.

This was immediately linked to another alleged Novichok case which took place in Britain over a year ago, which was also blamed on Russia.

In the blink of an eye, several prominent entities began calling for termination of the Nordstream Gas Pipeline between Russia and Germany as punishment against Russia. (Golly, gee, who would have thunk????)

Now, there is active consideration of terminating that deal, and Russia is angered beyond words.

Intel coming out of Russia says they are fed up with US and NATO interference in Ukraine and now, in Belarus.

They are fed up with US interference in Syria.

They are fed up with Trade Sanctions for "Russia Collusion " in the 2016 U.S. election; collusion which never took place.

And now they are being intentionally harmed by the false allegation of poisoning this Navalny guy.

Intelligence word out of Russia now reports that the Russians have concluded as follows:

"We thought a mistake or a miscalculation would be the trigger for a conflict. Now it appears a CALCULATED EXCHANGE OF A SERIOUS NATURE IS REQUIRED."

There you have it folks: A Calculated exchange of a serious nature.

Prepare. Fast.

Incidentally, this past weekend, media outlets in the Serbian Republic notified citizens that a test of the nationwide Emergency Alarm, will be conducted this Thursday. The government has not used that system since 1990.

The announcement made clear the government wishes to "test the alarm architecture and sensitize the population!"

They apparently know something is coming. Why else "sensitize" the population?"

<https://haltturnerradioshow.com/index.php/en/news-page/world/forty-eight-48-f-16-fighter-jets-over-belgium-with-dozens-of-attack-helicopters-today>