Clean government? According to whom?

The proverbial wheels are coming off Wisconsin's reputation for "clean government."

■ Taxpayers already have been billed hundreds of thousands of dollars in legal fees by a group of lawmakers and staff members being investigated for possible involvement with running political campaigns on the public's dime, which is against the law.

At the same time, it is reported that legislative leaders are also being investigated amid allegations that they shook down lobbyists for campaign donations when the lobbyists sought lawmakers' help on certain bills.

Editorial ■ The uproar continues in Milwaukee County over the outrageous pension plan deal that paid some retirees ridiculous lump sum payments and resulted in the resignation of the county administrator and calls to oust County Board members who approved the deal, although they say unwittingly.

The story got dirtier last week when felony charges were filed against Gary J. Dobbert, the so-called architect of the lump-sum payments. Investigators say

The issue: Dobbert, the human resources director, lied when he told the County Board that he had the proposal analyzed by an expert, as required by law, and when he state's reputation for clean government.

Our view: It's time for public employees at all levels to lead the fight to restore that reputation.

told the County Board chairman that the deal would be a money-saver.

Dobbert was fired, but he stands to receive an annual pension of more than $60,000. However, under the deal he orchestrated, had he worked until 2008 he would have qualified for a lump sum payment of $826,000, or $350,000 if he worked until 2004, according to the Milwaukee Journal Sentinel.

There is hope that the pension deal can be rescinded if it can be proved that Dobbert lied to the County Board to get its approval. Any public employee who would accept such an outrageous payment would show their true colors as well.

■ State Rep. Johnnie Morris-Tatum, D-Milwaukee, struck a deal with the state Ethics Board last week in which she agreed to pay a $1,000 fine in addition to $1,800 she repaid the state last year for some $12,000 in personal phone calls billed to the taxpayers.

"It's frustrating, isn't it?" Ethics Board Executive Director Roth Judd told the Journal Sentinel. "The bill went to taxpayers a long time ago. This was as much as we were able to get back."

Morris-Tatum's phone tab included $6,000 in overseas calls, mainly to Senegal. She claimed the calls were for legitimate state business, but when asked by the Journal Sentinel for proof, she couldn't provide any.

We often hear how people in the public sector miss out on the perks private companies offer their workers.

Well, here's something else that happens in the private sector. If you're caught stealing from your employer, the best you can hope for is to get your dishonest butt fired. More likely, especially where thousands of dollars are involved, it's turned over to law enforcement, and you are prosecuted, which could mean probation or prison, and certainly full restitution.

The public must get involved to put the brakes on this disturbing trend, and so should the honest lawmakers and public employees, whose reputations likewise suffer every time one of their own gets caught lying, cheating and stealing from the taxpayers.

PRAYERS TO ST. MICHAEL, ARCHANGEL

A Citizen's Prayer to St. Michael

Please protect us, St. Michael the Archangel, against violence, murder, and robbery. In your goodness preserve us today from all the malice of sinful and wicked people. In your sleepless vigilance watch over the safety and welfare of our homes and keep guard over our possessions. Ever hold in your special care, most triumphant St. Michael, the forces of public order against the crimes of evil people and defend all honest citizens in time of peril. Amen.

A Policeman's Prayer

Victorious St. Michael, you know how evil men are awake and plotting while good men sleep. Even so was faithless Judas awake and betraying our Lord while the Apostles slumbered in the Garden at Gethsemane.

Help me, powerful Archangel of God, to be always alert at my post, ever ready to do my duty, and to apprehend criminals without fear or favor. Be near me and my fellow police in times of peril and emergency, please. Defend us by your power when we are in danger. Be sure to shield us from all temptation and any occasion of sin. Help us

the Answer

*I met Him early in the morning
when my day was at its start,
His Presence, just like a rainbow,
gave warmth within my heart.*

*All day long the feeling lasted.
His Presence stayed with me.
And together we calmly sailed
over a most troubled sea.*

*So I think I found the answer,
learned from many a troubled way.
You must seek God in the morning,
if you desire Him through the day!*
