Traditionally, the Rothschild fortune is invested in closely held corporations. In the 21st Century, the Rothschild's corporations have continued to see success. Annual revenue for Rothschild & Co. in the 2016 fiscal year was £1,589 million. Most family members are employed by these corporations directly or invested in operations that generate family wealth. The remarkable success of the family has largely been due to a strong interest in cooperation, being entrepreneurs and the practice of smart business principles. The estate of Nathan Rothschild was intimately tied to the other fortunes of the family and became part of the collective wealth each Rothschild passed to the next generation. Rothschild descendants continue to finance global business operations and contribute to scholarly, humanitarian and business endeavors.

The family motto is: Concordia, Integritas, Industria, meaning "Harmony, Integrity, Industry."

WISCONSIN TAX FRAUD AGAINST WANTS AND COURTS COVERS UP INTER ALIA THEFT OF $18 BILLION

The Editor of International Currency Review has learned that Ambassador Leo Wanta has received a request from Mr Gregg T Frazier, Chief, Central Audit Section, State of Wisconsin Department of Revenue, for payment of an illegally charged civil tax demand that has been paid three times already - in May and June 1992, and then again in July 2005. The latest request concerns a renewed demand for a Wisconsin State civil tax assessment which was paid in full by Leo Wanta's lawyer on 21st July 2005. The request, for tax which the Ambassador never owed at any time because he has not been a legal resident of Wisconsin since 1985 as he is legally a resident of Vienna, Austria, and which, as indicated, has already been paid THREE times, is purportedly based upon a decision by the Wisconsin Supreme Court, handed down in secret. The Ambassador was unaware of this decision until informed of this FOURTH request for the SAME fraudulent civil tax assessment amount, by the Wisconsin Department of Revenue in correspondence dated 30th October 2006 and received on 2nd November 2006. The State appears to have committed a strategic error here.

This latest false civil assessment sets a precedent, of course, for anyone to receive a tax demand supposedly rubber-stamped by a kangaroo State Supreme Court even though the victim has never been informed of any such legal process – an abuse of power which not even the Barons who signed Magna Carta with King John had ever complained about.

The new abomination must be seen in the context of the millennial, open-ended financial corruption which is the subject of the accompanying special double issue of International Currency Review. In addition, $18 billion worth of high-value US Treasury instruments have gone missing from the Ambassador's sealed diplomatic briefcase.

Endemic 'untaxed' official financial corruption is the immediate cause of the continuing defaults on US Treasury securities and Federal Reserve Notes (FRNs) in Europe, aggregating at least $4.275 trillion in early November 2006 – for updates, see postings on www.worldreports.org [CLICK HERE! REPORT AND ARCHIVE] – because it precipitated the spreading collapse of confidence globally, arising from the destruction by the Bush II Administration of the 'Full Faith and Credit of the United States', as its officials have continued to play fast and loose with Wanta's funds. ■

Special Agent
Division of Criminal Investigation

Figure A: "Return of Search Warrant" prepared and signed by Dennis M. Mengelt, Special Agent, Division of Criminal Investigation, Wisconsin Department of Justice, and dated 11th March 1994. It itemises the contents of Ambassador Leo Emil Wanta's diplomatic/sealed briefcase which was illegally seized from him by Swiss authorities on 7th July 1993. The diplomatic briefcase has never been returned to the Ambassador. Not listed among the effects found by Dennis M. Mengelt were 18 high-value US Treasury instruments which the Ambassador was carrying in the briefcase and which have disappeared. The briefcase has never been returned because, not least, when returned it would need to contain 100% of the items that were in the briefcase when it was illegally seized from him in Lausanne on 7th July 1993. Beyond this central fact, the diplomatic briefcase was sealed and it is not within the purview of officials serving a State of the United States to examine such briefcases. The search warrant signed by the local Dane County Circuit Court Judge was beyond the Judge's powers and represented another instance of the usurpation of Federal powers by the hyper-arrogant State of Wisconsin, which has no jurisdiction beyond its borders.

SARAH MCCLENDON'S WASHINGTON REPORT

3133 Connecticut Avenue
Suite 215
Washington, D.C. 20008

By Sarah McClendon

Washington, D.C. — Leo Wanta, whose purchase of huge sums in Russian rubles is credited with bringing down the Soviet Union in the Cold War, will be put through a third party lunacy test in Madison, Wisconsin circuit court on Tuesday. He has successfully been declared of sound mind in two previous lunacy tests under the Wisconsin state attorney general's office. His own attorney, James Shellow of Madison, Wis., is instituting this test. Shellow says that under the rules for attorneys in Wisconsin he has to notify the court that he thinks the lunacy test should be given. Shellow admits to being a former attorney for a deceased Mafia chief in Wisconsin named Belistari. Shellow thinks Wanta will be declared sane in the upcoming hearing on Tuesday, but Shellow claims to know nothing as to how Wisconsin was able to extradite Wanta in chains and shackles from Switzerland, where he was doing business with Swiss banks after having given up his citizenship in Wisconsin. Wanta claims that he had just been made ambassador to Switzerland and Canada when Wisconsin state officials seized him bodily in Switzerland. Wanta claims that they took his briefcase from him at that time which contained billions in Treasury bills and Promise software technical equipment which the U.S. was using to get inside information about foreign treasuries.

Although the briefcase was taken by Wisconsin authorities in 1993, it has never been returned to Wanta nor has he any knowledge of what happened to its contents.

The charge is that he owed Wisconsin originally approximately $14,000. He claims to have paid back that amount in 1992. The state attorney general's office seized his house worth $120,000 and sold it for $60,000, but there is no record of this in the Department of Revenue in Wisconsin nor is there any trace of the proceeds from the sale.

Wanta was buying rubles from Russia at the request of the President, Ronald Reagan. Wanta had worked at the White House, the National Security Council, the Central Intelligence Agency and six other government agencies during his career.

He and President George Bush set up the Ameritrust account in the Credite Suisse bank for the U.S. government to use in case it needed to counter terrorists from overseas, according to Pat Cameron, Los Angeles attorney for Wanta. Wanta says that when former president George Bush sought to withdraw funds from the $210 billion on deposit that Wanta, a co-signer of the account, refused to give his signature for the withdrawal because the funds, he said, belonged to the U.S. government, not to an individual.

A History of the Rothschild Family

By Investopedia | February 23, 2017 — 10:58 AM EST

WIKI

[CORRECTION: An earlier version of this article cited an estimate of the combined net worth of the Rothschilds at $350 billion. That estimate came from a source that does not meet Investopedia's standards, and we have consequently retracted it. Similarly, an estimate that the Rothschilds controlled more than $2 trillion worth in assets was also inadequately sourced and retracted.]

The Rothschild Family

The Rothschilds are a prominent family, originally from Germany, that established banking and finance houses in Europe beginning in the 18th century. Pioneers in providing capital for business, financing infrastructure projects such as railways and the Suez Canal, the Rothschilds molded the way the international world of high finance works today. The family is a frequent target of anti-Semitic conspiracy theories.

The Rothschild Empire had its genesis during the 1760s when Mayer Amschel Rothschild (1744-1812) founded a banking business in his native Frankfurt, in the German duchy of Hesse. Over time and with the help of Mayer Rothschild's five sons, the family business expanded throughout several European countries. During 1815 and 1914, the Rothschilds controlled the world's largest bank.

Mayer Rothschild

The Rothschild's story began with the humble beginnings of its founder, Mayer Rothschild. Born in 1744, Mayer Rothschild was raised in a Jewish ghetto in Frankfurt, in the German duchy of Hesse. During that era, Jews were legally required to live in small communities that were distant from Christians. They were also not allowed to leave their villages on Christian holidays, Sundays or at night.

As a child, Rothschild lived in a full house with about 30 other family members. Rothschild learned about the business world at an early age—his father, Amschel Moses Rothschild, traded coins, silk and other commodities for a living. One of Amschel Rothschild's clients was the Crown Prince Wilhelm of Hesse.

Mayer Rothschild became an orphan at the age of 12 following the death of his mother. His father had died from smallpox the year before. Before their passing, Rothschild's parents wanted their son to study Jewish teaching to become a Rabbi. However, he decided to take on an apprenticeship with a banking firm in Hanover, Germany shortly after turning thirteen. During his time there, Rothschild learned the ins and outs of banking and foreign trade. (See The 5 Most Influential Bankers Of All Time).

Sensitivity Analysis

The Beginnings of a Banking Empire

Rothschild returned to his hometown, Frankfurt, when he turned 19. Along with his brothers, he continued the commodities and money trading business that their father started — including selling rare coins to Crown Prince Wilhelm, who became Wilhelm II, Landgrave of Hesse-Kassel in 1785 and eventually the European continent's richest man. Soon he was providing other banking services to Wilhelm and a number of nobles, and by 1789, Rothschild was given the title "Crown Agent." In 1779, Rothschild married and went on to have ten children: five sons and five daughters.

Expanding and Controlling the Rothschild Footprint

The Rothschild banking empire benefited tremendously from the French Revolution. During the war, the Austrian army contracted Rothschild to supply it with a range of items, including wheat, uniforms, horses, and equipment; he also facilitated monetary transactions for Hessian mercenary soldiers. Around that time, Rothschild sent his five sons to live in the capital cities of various European countries. His goal was to have each of his children establish a banking business in Frankfurt, Naples, Vienna, Paris, and London, and throughout the 1800s, they did. With Mayer Rothschild's children spread across Europe, the Rothschilds became the first bank to transcend borders. Lending to governments to finance war operations for the past several centuries provided ample opportunity to accumulate bonds and shore up additional wealth in a range of different industries.

Before he died in 1812, Mayer Rothschild left strict rules for his descendants on how they should handle the family's finances. He wanted to keep the fortune within the family and as such encouraged the arrangement of marriages among relatives. According to an article published in the August 2003 issue of Discover magazine entitled Go Ahead, Kiss Your Cousin, "Mayer-Amschel Rothschild arranged his affairs, so that cousin marriages among his descendants were inevitable. His will barred female descendants from any direct inheritance. Without an inheritance, female Rothschilds had few possible marriage partners of the same religion and suitable economic and social stature—except other Rothschilds. Rothschild brides bound the family together. Four of Mayer's granddaughters married grandsons, and one married her uncle. These were hardly people whose mate choice was limited by the distance they could walk on their day off."

Nathan Rothschild

Of the four Rothschilds who ventured abroad, it was third son Nathan (1777-1838) who became the biggest success. With Mayer Rothschild's children spread across Europe, the Rothschilds' enterprises became, in effect, the first bank to transcend borders. Nathan took over the lead role in pioneering international finance. Using a network of carrier pigeons to communicate with his siblings, Nathan acted as a central banker for Europe — brokering purchases for kings, rescuing national banks and funding infrastructure, like railroads, that would help start the Industrial Revolution.

Nathan had moved to England in 1796. There he founded a textile jobbing business with £20,000 of working capital, which in today's terms is equivalent to £1.9 million. He also began trading on the London Stock Exchange, and eventually founded a bank which became N M Rothschild & Sons Ltd. The firm is the country's seventh oldest bank in continuous operation. Although privately held and still controlled by the Rothschild family, N M Rothschild & Sons Ltd. reported a net profit of £34 million at the end of 2014. Like the other Rothschild banks that were subsequently set up throughout Europe, N M Rothschild & Sons furnished credit to the government during times of war and crisis. In 1811, during the Napoleonic Wars, for example, N M Rothschild & Sons managed and financed various subsidies that the British government sent to its different allies and loaned funds to pay the British troops — almost single-handedly financing the British war effort. But he also began funding Napoleon Bonaparte in secret — and even used the war to grow his own business.

On July 13, 1815, a courier working for Rothschild informed the English government that Napoleon appeared to be suffering defeat at Waterloo. The English government, believing instead that they were losing the battle, dismissed the courier's report and believed it to be false information. At this point, with England's future seeming dire, Rothschild began selling all of his bonds, encouraging rumors that Napoleon had won and that English government paper would soon be worthless. Due to Rothschild's reputation as an influential, renowned and respected investor, the panicked English public followed his lead. The mass selling resulted in a total collapse of the English stock exchange. It was then that Rothschild's agents began snatching up bonds and stock at record-low prices. Two days later, when Wellington's envoy confirmed that Napoleon Bonaparte had indeed suffered a crushing defeat, Nathan Rothschild was effectively in control of the English stock exchange. As of 2015, the English government was still paying back money owed to the Rothschild family from this Napoleonic maneuver.

Nathan's timing and frugality has led to the saying, "buy on the sounds of cannons, sell on the sound of trumpets," referring to the fact that the start of war is a good time to invest in a nation and that the end of war is the time to sell.

Philanthropic Activities

Nathan Rothschild contributed to many areas of philanthropy in the Jewish community. His family later expanded these charitable efforts to other populations in Europe and England, in the cities of Paris and London, respectively. His earliest efforts went toward synagogues in London. He continued to champion this work, which eventually led to the formation of United Synagogues, a larger organization that helped streamline the causes of the smaller individual synagogues.

Rothschild and his children later led charitable campaigns that resulted in a total of 30 foundations. These included public libraries, orphanages, hospitals, homes for the elderly and special funds allocated for the purpose of education. The Jews' Free School in London in particular received much financial support. Educational efforts in Austria, France and Israel were also made possible through their generosity. In addition to monies put toward education, the family gave an estimated 60,000 pieces of artwork to numerous organizations. The Rothschild family expanded the creation of social housing in the cities of London and Paris. The Rothschild Foundation was such an organization founded to further these efforts.

Nathan Mayer Rothschild had seven children with his wife, Hannah Barent Cohen. Many of their descendants are involved in Rothschild finance and investment enterprises. Details of their exact influence and holdings are not available to the public, but the Rothschild family has a place in history for defining modern finance.

The Rothschild Family in the 21st Century

The family wealth has been divided among many descendants and heirs throughout the years. Today, their holdings span a number of diverse industries, including financial services, real estate, mining, energy and even charitable work. There are a few Rothschild-owned financial institutions still operating in Europe, including N M Rothschild & Sons Ltd in the United Kingdom, and Edmond de Rothschild Group in Switzerland. The family also owns more than a dozen wineries in North America, Europe, South America, South Africa and Australia. (See also 5 Of The World's Oldest Companies.)

TRINITY COUNCIL UNION

Our Lady of Lourdes Intercede for us

Ave Maria Ave Maria

Our Blessed Mother,
QUEEN OF PEACE

Ever blessed and immaculate Mary, you are the heavenly patroness of our country under this beautiful title. In your generous kindness, we beg you to obtain for us a more perfect union, domestic tranquility, justice for all our citizens and the blessings of peace and prosperity for us and our descendants.

In particular we ask you to help us view all the people of this world as children of God and our brothers and sisters and to seek first just and peaceful means to redress even the most grievous wrongs done against us.

Amen.

Peace (For Our Country)

O God, our good and wise Father, you grouped your people into nations, bestowing on them uniformity of language and established borders.

Continue to guide our country as we work to remain worthy of its noble Christian traditions.

Dear Lord, grant to your children unity of purpose and fraternal solidarity of spirit in the quest of common good.

Teach us to act with justice and charity in dealing with one another and with brothers and sisters of other nations.

May we never be found wanting in so noble a mission, but succeed for the glory of your name and for the true greatness and happiness of all your children.

Amen.
