The Story Of Leo Wanta 'The 27.5 Trillion Dollar Man'

The Key Question Looms: Will The Illuminati Banksters Get the Money First Or Will The American People Get It, As Wanta Is Legal Guardian And Trustee On Behalf Of The People Of The United States

According to a 2003 federal court ruling by a courageous judge from Virginia, Wanta has been authorized as legal guardian of the vast sum of money made from profits at the end of the Cold War. In one of the most important stories of our time, Wanta holds the 'financial key' to the vast criminal Illuminati banking network and he says with the help of the American people their system can be destroyed.

By Greg Szymanski
3-26-6

The only thing standing in the way of life and death for Ambassador Leo Wanta is he "knows where the money is hidden" and the Illuminati banksters don't.

A former U.S. Treasury official appointed trustee to a large sum of money by President Ronald Reagan, Wanta holds the financial "golden key" to 27.5 trillion dollars, money he says now held in public trust for the American people.

To back up Wanta's trustee status as protector of trillions, a federal judge in Alexandria, Virginia, in 2003, ruled in his favor, saying Wanta's trustee status is legally binding and the money is rightfully the property of the American people.

The federal court case, however, has left federal prosecutors in a perplexed state of mind, as they have not yet officially appealed the ruling, perhaps thinking it is better to let "sleeping dogs sleep" until they get their 'cooked ducks or judges in the right government pond.'

But the real problem, as it stands today and why the money remains in limbo, is simply if Wanta returns the money to the U.S. Treasury, it will be immediately hijacked from the people and put into private Illuminati bank accounts since under the present Federal Reserve and the national banking system, there are no laws protecting the American people's money.

"Dutch (President Reagan) always intended the money be returned to the American people to be used for roads, schools and health care," said Wanta last Thursday on Greg Szymanski's radio show, the Investigative Journal, where the former Ambassador spoke for two hours while still being held under house arrest in his Switzerland home.

During the interview that can be heard in full by going to The Investigative Journal archives at www.rbnlive.com <<http://www.rbnlive.com/>>, Wanta literally blew the lid off the Illuminati's world wide banking scam, as well as providing detailed information about how Illuminati banksters with help from the Bush crime family and former President Clinton have already hijacked 752 billion dollars in what has been called by European investigators "the biggest bank heist in world history."

Besides the large sums of money at stake and the need to revamp the Federal Reserve and national banking laws to protect the public not private interests, Wanta's story involves undercover intrigue and espionage at the highest levels, providing a mystery story better than any Hollywood movie can offer.

Behind following the money, his story involves saving President Reagan's life in a little known assassination attempt left unreported in the mainstream press (see rbn interview), authority to arrest Marc (Reich) Rich, a meeting with Vince Foster just prior to his untimely death and just prior to Wanta being placed in a Swiss dungeon for 134 days when he confronted Rich, who was allowed to go free through White House connections.

To better understand Wanta's role and the importance of his story, not to mention how 27.5 trillion dollars could provide a good jump start to the American economy, it's best to go back to his original assignment in the Reagan administration at the time the Cold War was coming to a close.

At this time, Wanta, a distinguished U5 Secret Service/Treasury officer was the primary US Financial Warfare officer engaged in operations to "collapse" the Soviet Empire through financial maneuvers to prevent the Soviet military devoting larger resources to military expenditure.

For his financial plan which destabilized the Russian currency and resulted in huge dollar profits, leading into the 27.5 trillion in trust, instead of being recognized for his service, he was set-up by the Clinton's and the Bush crime family after being released from the Swiss jail, sentenced to a 22 year jail term on bogus Wisconsin state income tax evasion charges

Although recently released and protected in a sense by the 2003 federal court ruling in his favor, Wanta has languished much of the time since 1993 in jail and now under house arrest, the primary reason for his predicament being he audited the Illuminati's giga-financing operation of 1989-92 too accurately for the liking of certain high-level official crooks controlling the purse strings.

Regarding the Rich arrest in Switzerland and his meeting with Foster, Wanta said this on The Investigative Journal last week:

"I was named Ambassador from Somalia to Switzerland and Canada as a cover to arrest Rich. When I go there, I found myself in a Swiss dungeon and Rich was set free. Foster was also there on behalf of the Clinton's, asking for $250 million to be used for The Children's Fund, which Hillary was the chairman. I thought it was to be used for a good cause so We gave him the money.

"Later Vince attempted to help me out of my situation, but I was later notified he was found dead and I never found out what happened to the $250 million."

Although Wanta had no idea what The Children's Fund was all about, later a financial investigator, Marco Saba of the Organized Crime Observatory in Switzerland wrote this about turned out to be a secret fund:

"One component of this information concerns the activities of the CIA operative known as Mrs Hillary Rodham Clinton. For some years prior to the elevation of her husband, Bill, a CIA operative like his "CIA wife", Hillary had been in control of an organization calling itself the Children's Defense Fund. Executive Order 12333 (1981) of President Reagan, the US intelligence services were authorised to operate what became known as Title 18, Section 6 USG corporations for intelligence purposes, and to deny any intelligence community connection (that is, to lie about their real purpose). Some of these entities have touchy-feely, welfarish titles, like The Children's Defense Fund. It is alleged, un the basis of intelligence community leakages, that Hillary became accustomed to treating this fund as her own private slush fund."

However, behind the scenes of Rich, Foster and the Clinton's, a bigger game of world politics and deception was being played out, as Wanta unknowingly was caught in the middle of the U.S./Soviet double-cross of the American people, as the two collaborated to bring about an orchestrated fall of the Soviet Union.

An excerpt from an article from the Centro Studi Monetari, Arab-Asian Affairs, Vol. 29, Numbers 8&9, December 2005, explains the backstabbing and double-crossing going on behind the scenes when the Cold War was being orchestrated to a close to serve the purposes of the demonic Illuminati powers pulling the strings behind the scenes, as Wanta unknowingly serving patriotic U.S. interests was in the middle of the whole mess:

High Speed Rail, Lee Wanta, and the missing 27 Trillion Dollars?

The same scams to steal your identity, pay for wars you didn't agree to, and hijacking your tax dollars has gone on a long time. The Lee Emil Wanta story involves setting a large amount of money in secret to build a high speed rail system to covertly move nuclear missiles around and have a mobile launch system as advocated for by US President Ronald Reagan. Here we have big bankers, the Federal Reserve, a battle between the CIA and ISA (Intelligence Services Agency) spy agencies, and the public would have a high speed rail system in the US.

Wanta allegedly won a multi trillion dollar lawsuit against former US Treasury Secretary Paulson and/or US Government.

What is my take on what evidence, video, and text I have gone through to date?

Well, it is the anatomy of how bankers and spy agencies are bankrupting countries all over the world.

Maybe Reagan actually wanted the high speed rail service in the US not for the public show, but for missile transport. The way to end the USSR happened not with a military action, but with bankruptcy.

If the US and USSR were two poker players, the US showed a hand with space weapons, satellites that could use laser or particle beams to shoot down missiles, airplanes, and wipe out armies and soldiers on the ground, a rail mounted nuclear missile system, stealth submarines, etc. So, the USSR public, their taxpayers could not foot the bill for the war in Afghanistan AND to come up with all the programs that the US supposedly had to wipe the USSR off the map. The US didn't even have to have the weapons, they didn't have to even be possible, but the paper trail for USSR spies to follow did exist. International criminals could then pocket trillions of dollars that was set aside without providing anything AND destroy the USSR.

Patsies holding the bag for transacting the money were either killed or jailed. They could not say anything, because like Snowden, Manning, and others faced being covertly murdered by the CIA or jailed for letting out "state secrets".

This is my take. If you are so inclined, read up, word search, watch more videos, and make up your own decision. But if you want to know why you have less and less and war criminals and bankers have more and more, well maybe you can start to see what has been going on way too long. Maybe you can then act, not just sit in front of the computer type comments and view videos. That will not obtain any results, actions will.

Excerpt [www.veteranstoday.com/2013/12/28/high-speed-rail/ (<http://www.veteranstoday.com/2013/12/28/high-speed-rail/>):

In the late 1980s, United States President Ronald W. Reagan gave a mandated order/directive to Leo Emil Wanta* (Presidential Executive Order No. 12333). President Reagan authorized Wanta's company, New Republic/USA Financial Group, Ltd., Jackson, Mississippi, USA (a Mississippi intelligence operations group under Title 18 USC Section 6 (line 11) to build or otherwise obtain a rail system capable of moving MX Mobile Missiles.

One of those authorized activities involved the movement of MX Mobile Missiles to an underground storage facility at Redstone Arsenal in Huntsville, Alabama. Redstone began as a chemical weapons manufacturing facility for WWII but became the Army's focal point for rocket and space projects (including the development of the first U.S. ballistic missiles and space launch vehicles).

Ambassador Lee Wanta was asked by President Reagan to assist with the transportation of MX Missiles.

Peacekeeper_Rail_Garrison_Car_-_Dayton_-_kingsley_-_12-29-08.jpgMX) Missiles transported in disguise inside specially constructed Railroad Cars.

Though using an old bankrupt railroad called Santa Fe & Southern to move MX Mobile Missiles is a far cry from planning a national high-speed rail system, that is how Ambassador Lee Emil Wanta got involved in planning a national high-speed rail facility for the American people. It began as a means to quickly and efficiently move MX Mobile Missiles and ended as the dream of an engineer who could see the long-term benefits to his nation if such a system were implemented.

For those who have no idea how far-sighted President Ronald Reagan and his intelligence team were, a mid-December 2013 news story might help you understand. It's about Russia and an announcement made by President Vladimir Putin. These paragraphs were included in the Associated Press news article:

"Russia is developing a new intercontinental ballistic missile mounted on a railway car in a bid to counterbalance prospective U.S. weapons, a senior military officer has said.

"Colonel General Sergei Karakayev, the chief of the military's Strategic Rocket Forces, said in remarks carried by Russian news agencies on Wednesday that the new weapon would be much easier to camouflage than its predecessor. The Soviet-designed railway missiles were scrapped in 2005.

"Karakayev said the Yars missile intended for the project was much lighter than the Soviet-built system and could be put inside a regular refrigerator car unlike its predecessor, which required a heavier and bigger car that could be detected by enemy intelligence."

All Putin is doing today is a mirror image of what Reagan and Wanta were doing back in the 1980s and 90s. There is a long and not-so-glorious history for a high-speed rail program that has yet to be implemented in the United States... but let's start at the beginning.

Wanta purchased the Federal Land Bank Building in Jackson, Mississippi.

The direct mandated order that Lee Wanta got from President Reagan told him to purchase the Federal Land Bank Building in Jackson, MS, which would be used for logistics and satellite feed. The funds to buy the building and the Santa Fe & Southern Pacific Railroad came from the Department of Defense to Wanta's company, New Republic. The money was placed in Deposit Guaranty Bank in Mississippi and the credit cards for field operations were issued by Merrill Lynch to the New Republic/USA Financial Group.

If you have read Chapter 9 of Wanta's biography, WANTA! Black Swan, White Hat (1) (available at Amazon.com Kindle), you are aware that the prosecuting attorney in Wanta's civil/criminal tax evasion Kangaroo trial, J. Douglas Haag, a Wisconsin Assistant Attorney General, made much to-do about a $500,000 deposit made to the Mississippi bank, informing Wanta's civil tax evasion jury the funds were Wanta's personal property, but then misrepresented them as evidence of his guilt as a tax evader in the State of Wisconsin.

Wanta is wrongly set up in one of the biggest miscarriages of justice ever.

These funds, of course, came from the Department of Defense and represented nothing of the kind... but Haag had Wanta in a box. The money had been provided to purchase a railroad that would be used to haul MX Mobile Missiles to defend the nation. The railroad and building for which the funds were provided both were linked to a highly secret mandate from the President of the United States and Wanta could not make that information public at his phony criminal trial for tax evasion. Instead, he had to eat a 22-year prison and parole sentence.

At the time of Wanta's Mississippi attempt to purchase the Santa Fe & Southern Railroad for moving the MX Mobile Missiles to appropriate locations for the national defense of the country, the Central Intelligence Agency (for which Vice President George Herbert Walker Bush had been Director until becoming vice president under Reagan) was America's primary intelligence agency. Because Reagan believed that the CIA was totally corrupted, he and Wanta were in the process of implementing a new intelligence agency called Intelligence Services Agency (ISA) which would have put the CIA into competition with the ISA for its survival. Lee Emil Wanta was to be the Assistant Director of the new intel-ops group... one of the reasons he was targeted as someone who needed to be "taken down."

High Speed Rail (HSR) blocked by Political Cronyism.

As is almost always true in the world of political cronyism, the CIA was threatened by the presence of the new ISA group and was probably behind the failure of the acquisitions program – the railroad and the Federal Land Bank Building – to implement President Reagan's plans. The result: the CIA did not want the MX Mobile Missiles being moved around by the Department of Defense via Wanta's company – a Title 18 USC

Section 6 (Line 11) intelligence gathering corporation. They wanted to control the operation complete with "set-aside allocations" and other financial motivation to be enjoyed by the participants at the expense of American taxpayers.

Today's politics include guaranteed employment for well-known public employees called upon to perpetrate fraud upon the people of America while being paid by those very same people... they get set-aside allocations (like university positions funded by the government) and other revolving door professional courtesies like honorariums that bring with them power and position.

Surely you've noticed how the doors at Goldman Sachs swing open to place Henry Paulson as Secretary Treasury and how the government doors swing open so Robert Rubin can join Goldman Sachs... or how easily Janet Napolitano walked into her new job in California's University System.

Reagan's and Wanta's ISA made no such concessions to politicians and bureaucrats and so completing the mission was made impossible for Wanta.

To make sure completing the mission was impossible, Wanta was put in prison in Switzerland – no charges were ever filed during his 134 day prison stay in Lausanne's du Bois prison. They just kept him in an isolated dungeon cell likely built about the time Rome fell.

High Speed Rail (HSR) can provide Civil Defense capabilities not otherwise possible.

The public was to be told that the rail system Wanta was told to purchase was that people could quickly be moved to safety when the need arose... a hurricane evacuation route for Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Texas and that high-speed rail filled that need nicely. The hard core reason that justified the costs involved was, however, national defense: the movement of MX Mobile Missiles to critical locations.

So there you have that's the synopsis of why

Putin is, in December 2013, taking advantage of the original plan for Mobile MX Missiles born during the Reagan Administration under the management of Secret Agent Lee Emil Wanta... a plan that would have saved us from the USSR at that time. Wanta was working in concert with General James A. Abrahamson, Central Intelligence Director William Casey, former Central Intelligence Director William Colby, and Reagan's Attorney General, William French Smith. Gen. Abrahamson was Director for the F-16 Multinational Air Combat Fighter Program at Aeronautical Systems Division before being assigned Administrator for the Space Transportation System, and was responsible for the nation's space shuttle program. In 1980, he assumed the duties of Deputy Chief of Staff for Systems, Air Force Systems Command Headquarters.

And there you have the reason behind the birth of high-speed rail and the many positive ways it can be used for the good of the people to escape natural (and other) disasters rather than being trapped in big cities and forced to face possible death... and, of course, as is always in the very busy mind of Secret Agent Leo Wanta, the national defense.

What is this national high-speed rail system that is so high on Lee Wanta's list of things that America needs done so the Constitutional Republic can be restored? Is it something we should do? First, it's not a "should do" thing – it's a MUST DO because HSR will increase employment and the career opportunities – full-time, well-paid jobs with full benefits – will help stabilize economic recovery nationally, and do it quickly. Well, if it's done properly and is a privately-owned, national project rather than another cronyism project of either political party, economic recovery will stabilize nationally. Building a high-speed rail system will cause local, state and federal tax revenues to stop their drop into oblivion. Is there a city or town that didn't think the gravy train would go on forever – and are suffering mightily from their over-spending and lack of saving for economic downturns? How many cities in California alone have gone bankrupt? That disease of bankruptcy has spread to Detroit – with Chicago next? How many municipal bonds are at risk as this is being written? Far more than you're hearing about is the answer to that question. Who do you think will be asked to pick up the tab for these failed cities?

Other major nations have High Speed Rail including France, Japan and China.

The rest of the world is passing America by in the world of transportation. This isn't about winning a competition, it's about increasing our capacity to produce and compete with other nations to sell American goods effectively both nationally and internationally. Japan implemented its first HSR train in the mid-1960s. On any given day in France, more than 450 high-speed rail trains are running. In France, they are known as TGV (Train a Grande Vitesse). French HSR offers about 150 destinations and the trains travel at 200 miles per hour. The TGV Atlantique carries over 40,000 passengers each day. China has opened more than 42 high-speed rail lines and has the world's biggest train network, with 56,000 miles (91,000 kilometers) of passenger rail. Even with so much traditional and high-speed rail access, trains are overloaded with passengers and cargo. Chinese rail technology dominates that nation's foreign diplomacy, extending the country's regional influence as well as addressing its growing energy demands. During this same time, US Transportation Secretary Ray LaHood played Tinker Toys with Amtrak, thinking he can hornswoggle the American people into accepting the equivalent of Amtrak's Acela line as "high-speed rail" – which it is not. The U.S. Government appears to want to charge American taxpayers for the larger costs of high-speed rail, but provide instead the same failed system that keeps Amtrak in the red by a billion plus dollars every year. Amtrak is old, inefficient, slow and is government owned and controlled.

Amtrak is the National Railroad Passenger Corporation and it is 40 years old. It is government owned and controlled. It is Union operated and employs more than 20,000 workers and its CEO is appointed by the President of the United States... a political appointment. The Amtrak budget is allocated by Congress (and it is thus dependent upon its friendly relations with Congress – keeping elected officials happy for its existence – do I hear echoes of "cronyism" here?).

Does this sound like the best possible expertise source to build a new, high-tech rail project? Amtrak can't even run its own company in a business-like manner. In fiscal year 2010, Amtrak earned $2.51 billion and expensed $3.74 billion... a net $1.2 billion loss. The Amtrak system is antiquated, bloated and inefficient and its total cost to taxpayers for its 40 years of service is $50 billion. Yet, Amtrak which has absolutely no experience in the world of high-speed rail is the expertise source selected by the Obama Administration. It was the expertise source for George W. Bush, too – and Bill Clinton and George H.W. Bush. Why? Remember those "set-aside allocations" we discussed above? Since Ronald Reagan left office, both elected politicians and unelected bureaucrats can control the goodies handed out by a government-controlled entity.

No cronyism would be allowed by President Reagan and his Secret Agent Wanta in the construction of the High Speed Rail System (HSR).

Wanta and Ronald Reagan were determined there would be no set-aside allocations, no cronyism – no favors given to former college roommates to develop the Obamacare computer software, no $528 million loan losses to Solyndra. You remember a major backer of the solar energy company, billionaire George Kaiser, don't you? He was a major Solyndra backer and was heavily involved in soliciting donations for Obama's 2008 presidential campaign. To complete the disgusting picture of cronyism at its worst, Goldman Sachs, was Solyndra's financial adviser. Lee Wanta is determined that the American people will not pay for set-aside allocations for politicians or freebies for bureaucrats. Not on this railroad!

COST

People talk about the cost of high-speed rail, but it is tens of billions less costly than the alternative – expanding highways and airports to accommodate population growth. And, the environmental advantages to HSR are phenomenal – far better than jets, buses and cars. People who think it's costly to build a high-speed rail system need to check with Boeing to find out the cost of building jet airplanes (that carry far fewer people) for the airline industry. Of course, the government doesn't own the airlines – yet – but wants to own high-speed rail. And the airlines don't want the competition of a well-run high-speed rail line and lobby effectively to prevent Lee Wanta from gaining access to his own funds that will make it possible for him to build such a system for the American people. Wanta Revelations Chapter 16

By Lee Wanta, Editor

Since the United States government won't allow me to pay my repatriation civil income taxes, apparently the only way to receive my personal income and property is to go through Austria where I am a taxpayer in good standing.

While there, I can receive my $30 trillion and pay my taxes, erasing America's national debt. Let's admit it, most of America's national debt was never authorized in the first place. No one wants it paid off, former Secretary of Treasury Henry Paulson put the US congress under duress, the debt exists to control the American people and is, in no way, representative of any real economic situation.

Paulson told congress that he had the full support of President Bush (43) to declare martial law and arrest members of congress and their families.

Where did the money come from?

Where did it go?

Nobody knows.

Document below, part of Chapter 16:

One of the things I've learned while writing Ambassador Wanta's biography is that many of the same strategies that were used to bring down the Soviet Union – Operation Stillpoint (Wanta's code name was "Stillpoint" for that operation) are today being used against the United States. Here is a paragraph from a recently de-classified document (classified Top Secret in an era when "Top Secret" really means something). As you read the linked document (and the below paragraph), bear in mind that it was written by American intelligence in March 1985, not March 2013 and detailed how we would use certain natural occurrences in Afghanistan to defeat the Soviet Union not only in the Middle East, but in the hallways of world opinion. Here's just one paragraph from this important document:

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

FATE: "The method determines the standard..."

Ambassador Lee Emil Wanta

It is difficult to write of an ending when there really is no ending. Yet, that is what this chapter is: An ending to WANTA! Black Swan, White Hat. It is also a beginning relative to the life and times of Leo/Lee Emil Wanta and the American economy and what is yet to come.

Remember Nassim Nicholas Taleb's definition in his book, The Black Swan: In the world of finance (and probably other worlds, as well) it is a metaphor that describes an event that surprises the observer and has a major effect. After the event, a Black Swan is inappropriately rationalized with the benefit of hindsight.

One objective of WANTA! Black Swan, White Hat (and the first edition which preceded it, Americans: Wanta Be Free) has been to provide the international public and particularly the American populace with information about how President Reagan and his secret Presidential Task Force brought down the Soviet Union Ruble (SUR) utilizing the skill and knowledge of the man Reagan called his "favorite junkyard dog," Leo Emil Wanta.

A LIFETIME OF COUNTER-INTELLIGENCE SERVICE TO THE UNITED STATES

In the course of his professional intelligence service, Ambassador Leo Emil Wanta conducted sensitive counter-intelligence business and operations in the following countries and territories, among others: Algeria, Argentina, Australia, Belize, Brazil, Burma, Chad, Chile, China, Cuba, Egypt, El Salvador, France, Honduras, Hong Kong, Hungary, India, Indonesia, Iran, Iraq, Ireland, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, Mongolia, Morocco, Mozambique, Nicaragua, North Africa, Amman, Pakistan, Panama, Paraguay, Philippines, Russia, Saudi Arabia, Singapore, South Africa, South Korea, Sri Lanka, Sudan, Thailand, United Kingdom, Vanuatu (the currently favored, utterly corrupted financial offshore tax haven bolt-hole of the Illuminati), Venezuela and Zaire. In many operations, transactions patterns are established in order to monitor the resulting financial flows, which can be done using inter alia PROMIS-derivative software.

President Reagan referred to Leo Wanta as his favorite 'junkyard dog' because of his ability to get things done by 'unconventional' means. However, what is apparent from studying what is known about Leo Wanta's life is that he may not have realized that although he served successive Presidents with total loyalty, in many instances they were working to a different underlying agenda to what they told him.

...Christopher Story, International Currency Review, World Reports, London

*Leo, with my deepest personal regards,
Ronald Reagan*

If you're smart, you'll analyze the historical result of what happened to Wanta... you'll ask yourself some interesting questions about what will happen in the next ten or twenty years if people, once informed, continue to just let things happen as they have done since Wanta was first arrested in 1993. After his 1993 arrest – after the funds generated to prevent the financial disaster begun in 2007 were borrowed or stolen by agent provocateurs – the corruption, fraud, vice and sleaze in the world's financial systems began and have picked up steam to an intolerable level. Very likely, it will not stop until the people force a stoppage or our beautiful country is relegated to Third World status. People do not seem to realize that once we lose this beautiful nation – when it becomes a Detroit – we don't get it back again. Not ever.

One of the reasons this information in this book is so important is that some of the same tactics used by Wanta to bring down the ruble are now being used to bring down the U.S. Dollar. If you realize what happened to the Soviet Union Ruble, you are far ahead of where other Americans are in their understanding of why the dollar is upsy-downsy from one day to the next – the same for gold and silver.

President Reagan supported the Star Wars program because he knew the Soviets would have to follow America's lead or lose their status as a world power. Star Wars was expensive to both the United States and the Soviet Union... but in those days our economy was in much better shape than theirs. Thanks to his Task Force, Reagan knew that when the Soviets went heavily into debt to prove they could compete with us in Cold War technology, it would create an economic tipping point that would make possible the destruction of their currency.

One of the things I've learned while writing Ambassador Wanta's biography is that many of the same strategies that were used to bring down the Soviet Union – Operation Stillpoint (Wanta's code name was "Stillpoint" for that operation) are today being used against the United States. Here is a paragraph from a recently de-classified document (classified Top Secret in an era when "Top Secret" really means something). As you read the linked document (and the below paragraph), bear in mind that it was written by American intelligence in March 1985, not March 2013 and detailed how we would use certain natural occurrences in Afghanistan to defeat the Soviet Union not only in the Middle East, but in the hallways of world opinion. Here's just one paragraph from this important document:

"Promote Soviet isolation in the Third and Islamic worlds on the Afghanistan issue. The Soviets have paid a price in the Third World for their continuing occupation of Afghanistan. We must not let their activities disappear from the agenda of Third World and Islamic countries. We should make every effort to increase the condemnation of the Soviets on this issue."

That was written by American intelligence in 1985 – it exemplifies precisely what Operation Stillpoint was all about. It extends the same philosophy President Ronald Reagan put in place for Leo Emil Wanta when he was sent into the Soviet Union to destabilize the economy. The words "Promote Soviet isolation..." evidence that.

But let's move beyond that for a moment. Let's update things to 2013, using that same paragraph. Isn't it very possible that some intelligence operatives in Russia and China and possibly Turkey are writing similar paragraphs about the United States? I cannot imagine that they would not be doing so. Such paragraphs might read:

"Promote American isolation in the Third and Islamic worlds on the Afghanistan issue. The Americans have paid a price in the Third World for their continuing occupation of Afghanistan – especially since the Obama Administration decided to use drones that kill

U.S. POLICY, PROGRAMS AND STRATEGY IN AFGHANISTAN

The Soviet war in Afghanistan is now well into its sixth year. The two principal elements in our Afghanistan strategy are a program of covert action support to the Afghan resistance, and our diplomatic/political strategy to pressure the Soviet Union to withdraw its forces from Afghanistan and to increase international support for the Afghan resistance forces. This directive establishes the goals and objectives to be served by these programs. (S, U)

I. Policy Goals and Major U.S. Interests:

The ultimate goal of our policy is the removal of Soviet forces from Afghanistan and the restoration of its independent status. In the mid term (1985-1990), the U.S. will pursue interim objectives which will, if achieved, bring us closer to our ultimate goal. Achieving these interim objectives will be in the U.S. national interest, regardless of the ultimate outcome of the struggle in Afghanistan. These interim objectives are:

- Demonstrate to the Soviet Union that its long-term strategy for subjugating Afghanistan is not working. If the war in Afghanistan grows steadily worse, from the Soviet perspective, the Soviet leadership can have little confidence that it will finally achieve its purposes, no matter how long term the Soviet perspective. Achieving this objective is the best way to build pressure on the Soviet Union to adjust its policies in ways favorable to us and to the Afghan people. (S, U)
- Deny Afghanistan to the Soviets as a base: Our covert program will deny Afghanistan to the Soviets as a secure base from which to project power and influence in the region. Were the Soviets to consolidate their position in Afghanistan, they would be better able to exploit possible post-Khomeini turmoil in Iran and to create difficulties for the Government of Pakistan. (S, U)
- Promote Soviet isolation in the Third and Islamic worlds on the Afghanistan issue. The Soviets have paid a price in the Third World for their continuing occupation of Afghanistan.

We must not let their activities disappear from the agenda of Third World and Islamic countries. We should make every effort to increase the condemnation of the Soviets on this issue. (S/77)

-- Prevent the defeat of an indigenous movement which is resisting Soviet aggression. The continuation of the Soviet aggression in Afghanistan demonstrates to countries in the Third World, many of which had earlier been predisposed to regard the Soviets as "natural" allies, that the Soviet Union is an imperialist power which will subjugate Third World states militarily when it suits its interest to do so. It is vital that such indigenous resistance movements not be defeated by Soviet counterinsurgency efforts. (S/77)

-- Show firmness of purpose in deterring Soviet aggression in the Third World. Our support of the Afghanistan resistance demonstrates our commitment to resisting Soviet aggression. Withdrawal of that support for the Afghan resistance would send a signal to the Soviets and to anti-Soviet insurgencies in Central America, Africa, and Asia that our purpose in standing up to Soviet imperialism was not firm. Our support demonstrates to the Soviets that we will continue to resist low-level Soviet aggression while pursuing arms control. With the resumption of arms control talks in Geneva, it is important to signal to the Soviets that we will continue to oppose unacceptable Soviet behavior in other fields. (S/77)

-- To the extent possible, bring news of the war home to the Soviet people to reduce their confidence in the Soviet military and Soviet external policies. (S/77)

11. Reaching Our Policy Objectives

In order to reach the objectives discussed above, heads of responsible departments and agencies of the U.S. government will:

-- Improve the intelligence support to our covert action program. Detailed and timely information on the course of the war will enable us to determine whether we are defeating the Soviet long-term strategy, and adjust our program to increase its effectiveness. (S/77)

-- Utilize intelligence to focus increased effort on the systematic exploitation of Soviet sensitivities and vulnerabilities arising from their occupation of Afghanistan. (S/77)

-- Improve the military effectiveness of the Afghan resistance in order to keep the trends in the war unfavorable to the Soviet Union. This will include setting performance goals and measures of effectiveness. (S/77)

- Bound the problem of corruption or its appearance by continuing to improve the management of the flow of supplies into Afghanistan, by tracking these supplies enroute, and by confirming that resistance groups in Afghanistan are receiving increased supplies and are using them in combat. ~~(S)~~
- Maintain good working relations with Pakistan. In the absence of alternative routes of supply into Afghanistan, such relations are essential to the program. This will include responding to Pakistani security requirements arising from their support to the resistance. ~~(S)~~
- Encourage the development of resistance-run social services inside Afghanistan for humanitarian reasons, to reduce the refugee problem in Pakistan, and to maintain the civilian logistical support for the resistance in Afghanistan. ~~(S)~~
- Increase international political pressure on the Soviets through public diplomacy, bilateral efforts, and support for U.N.-led negotiations calling for complete Soviet withdrawal. ~~(S)~~
- Where possible, encourage greater political coordination among the Afghan resistance groups. While it is unrealistic to expect a unified resistance movement which will champion the resistance cause internationally, agreement among the various Mujahidin parties to establish structures which can speak for the resistance internationally will add to the pressure on the Soviets and increase the political and diplomatic effectiveness of the resistance. ~~(S)~~ innocent civilians as part of United States military strategy. America's refusal to aid the real revolutionaries during the original Arab Spring uprisings and allowing groups unfriendly to the end objectives sought by the United States to take control of the true rejection of Muslim tyranny will be long remembered by the peoples of the Middle East. We must not let their activities disappear from the agenda of Third World and Islamic countries. We should make every effort to increase the condemnation of the Americans regarding these issues."

It's not too difficult to imagine what's going through the minds of our enemies abroad because the same thoughts went through our minds back in 1985. The information in this document provides clear insight as to the many facets of Operation Stillpoint and how it was implemented.

Look where America's debt is today. We are now in that same fragile, vulnerable spot the Soviets were in after six years of a failed war in Afghanistan. Do you think that's an accident? Have you figured out yet that the long-term plan to implement this failure of America's economy required that Lee Wanta be muzzled? Had he not been muzzled, Wanta, the guy who put his life on the line regarding Operation Stillpoint, would have been able to tell the American public early on that the same plan that had been implemented so effectively by himself via President Reagan was now being used in reverse, against the United States of America. He had to be removed from the position of being able to do what he promised Ronald Reagan he would do: Pay the debt and save his nation because had he not been removed, he would have warned the people of what was about to befall them.

Debt capitalism (which, thanks to fractional-reserve banking given to us by the Federal Reserve System, is what we have in America) relies on debt for growth. Actually, I've decided to call it what it is: Debtism. We don't have capitalism, we have debtism... a term that you will not find in the dictionary. The word "upscale" wasn't there when I created it, either. It is now. Why? Because, like debtism it defines the meaning of a specific concept. When debt begins to exceed gross domestic product (GDP) and other nations realize the overly-indebted economy of the United States will soon be unable to pay its bills, the capacity to generate more debt disappears. When other nations begin refusing to purchase the debt (via Treasury Bonds, etc.) of this debtism nation, the economy fails and falls. Think Iceland. Think Greece. Think Spain and Italy. If you really want to be brave and factual, think Cyprus where bank depositors were charged for the failure of that nation's banks. If you think that's a show that isn't coming to America, think again. It will, unless something is done – and Lee Wanta appears the best alternative for getting something economically positive done.

The importance of the Wanta story goes far beyond the fortune that was amassed by him. It goes beyond the crimes that were perpetrated against Wanta, too. In its own way, it is a roadmap of how nations and states are destroyed... one that can provide aid to those seeking to find ways out of the mire of fraud and greed and corruption so prevalent in the American business community – and, let's face it, in American society – in the new Millennium.

The interest in the first edition of this book, Americans: Wanta Be Free – it's being read in over 113 nations as I write this final chapter – exists because people all over the world are looking for, as Princess Paula of the Principality of Snake Hill said in her radio interview on February 14, 2013, "Captain America." The story of Lee Emil Wanta is about a man – a Captain America – who refuses to cede to the power of government that so threatens and immobilizes others. He represents what America is intended to be: A light on a hill for the rest of the world to follow. The rest of us need to light some candles and join Wanta on that hill before the light he offers us is extinguished.

One of the most positive experiences the author enjoyed from writing this book came from a Comment letter asking for permission to reproduce a portion of the book and a plan to send it, with a personal letter, to members of Congress, questioning them about why they have allowed the near bankruptcy of the nation they are supposed to represent when a viable alternative exists to that bankruptcy and the resultant suffering of the American people (and those worldwide). This man understands that freedom and affluence are not served up without effort worthy of those privileges and I thank him.

People who have read this book should know enough about the corruption in Congress and the lies elected officials are willing to tell people if it will prevent you from knowing the truth. You saw the letter from Senator Larry Craig (R-ID): "After extensive research by my staff on this issue, I was unable to confirm any of the concerns you expressed in your letter." Senator Craig then proceeded to write a letter to a constituent who had contacted him about Lee Wanta and it was filled with lies about something no one in his office could have extensively researched to come up with the disinformation he included in that letter. This book has provided the information necessary to substantiate to your elected officials any questions they might have as to the validity of the claims made about Ambassador Lee Emil Wanta. I've made the documents available to you.

"They" are preventing you from gaining access to $1.575 trillion in taxes Wanta has not only agreed to pay but wants to pay. Surely you know what that means? Those elected officials who do nothing about the Wanta funds expect you to pay that $1.575 trillion. Are their hands in the Wanta funds cookie jar? Find out! If you're willing to assume the debt and pay higher and higher taxes with lower and lower salary increases annually, well... it is said that in the end analysis we all get our just desserts.

People who have read this book should know enough about the activities of the Federal Reserve System to realize the corruptive influence it freely exercises over our economic status. You should know that all wars since central banks were established have been funded by those central banks.

What is a central bank? (Go here to find the answer – this document explains how central banks rip off monetary systems around the world.) It is a wholesaler of money it has done nothing to earn or otherwise generate. It is a middle man. Why does the United States Treasury need a privately-owned corporation to act as a wholesaler of its monetary processes? Answer: It doesn't. The Federal Reserve does nothing that could not be handled by the Treasury Department.

Most Americans don't realize that for most of our history, we did not have a central bank. We had two attempts at a central bank before the Federal Reserve Act of 1913 was unlawfully shoved down the throats of the American people.

Unlawful? Read your Constitution.

Article 1, Section 8:

"The Congress shall have Power To lay and collect Taxes, Duties, Imposts and Excises, to pay the Debts and provide for the common Defence and general Welfare of the united States; but all Duties, Imposts and Excises shall be uniform throughout the United States.

"To borrow Money on the credit of the United States;

"To regulate Commerce with foreign Nations and among the several States, and with the Indian Tribes;

"To establish an uniform Rule of Naturalization and uniform Laws on the subject of Bankruptcies throughout the United States;

"To coin Money, regulate the Value thereof, and of foreign Coin, and fix the Standard of Weights and Measures;"

Numerous other stated Powers of Congress are further listed. Do you see anywhere in the above stated powers as they relate to money, commerce and coin that gives the Congress the right to legislate away its economic responsibilities to a privately owned corporation called the Federal Reserve? I do not. To make changes to the Constitution of the United States, the Congress must pass an Initiative that is sent to each of the states so it can be placed as an Amendment to the Constitution on the ballot and the people in every state must vote on it, either accepting or rejecting it. When it was proposed that the voting age be changed from 21 to 18, was it achieved by a vote of the United States Congress? Well, they tried... but the Supreme Court quickly told Congress it had overstepped its authority. An Initiative was passed, was put on the ballot in every state, and the people voted to lower the age and the Constitution was properly Amended. No such approval of the changes that removes the financial responsibilities defined in the First Amendment to the Constitution of the Congress and gives them to a "central bank" called the Federal Reserve was ever voted on by the people. Thus, the Federal Reserve System is an unlawful entity forced on the people of America. So, too, is the debt it has accrued in our name. If something is unconstitutional, it is unlawful.

Unlawful? You are damned right it is! And you might want to check out Section 9 of Amendment 1. It will tell you that "No Bill of Attainder or ex post facto Law shall be passed.

"No Capitation, or other direct, Tax shall be laid, unless in Proportion to the Census or Enumeration herein before directed to be taken.

"No Tax or Duty shall be laid on Articles exported from any State."

It also says: "No Money shall be drawn from the Treasury, but in Consequence of Appropriations made by Law; and a regular Statement and Account of the Receipts and Expenditures of all public Money shall be published from time to time."

Okay. So the receipts and expenditures of all public money is supposed to be published from time to time. The Constitution says so. Do you recall how hard Congressman Ron Paul had to fight to get a partial audit of the Federal Reserve? Even in this partial audit, it was found that over $16 trillion had been secretly disbursed by the Fed to U.S. and foreign banks and was used to bail out many of the world's banks, corporations and governments. Here's where some of the money went:

The following is a list of loan recipients that was taken directly from page 131 of the audit report...

Citigroup - $2.513 trillion Morgan Stanley - $2.041 trillion Merrill Lynch - $1.949 trillion Bank of America - $1.344 trillion Barclays PLC - $868 billion Bear Sterns - $853 billion Goldman Sachs - $814 billion Royal Bank of Scotland - $541 billion JP Morgan Chase - $391 billion Deutsche Bank - $354 billion UBS - $287 billion Credit Suisse - $262 billion Lehman Brothers - $183 billion Bank of Scotland - $181 billion BNP Paribas - $175 billion Wells Fargo - $159 billion Dexia - $159 billion Wachovia - $142 billion Dresdner Bank - $135 billion Societe Generale - $124 billion "All Other Borrowers" - $2.639 trillion

Those funds were never reported to the people. It should be noted that Congressman Paul's legislation called for a total audit of the Fed but Senator Jim DeMint (R-SC) and Senator Bernie Sanders (I-VT) watered down the language of Paul's Bill (HR 1207) in the Senate so that a complete audit could not be done. The Federal Reserve has never been totally audited. That, too, violates the Constitution.

The Constitution of the United States does not give this kind of power to a private corporation called the Federal Reserve... a corporation born via unlawful legislation that changed the basic directives of the Constitution of this nation without an Amendment voted on and approved by the people of this country. Please take the time to read "10 Things Every American Should Know About the Federal Reserve."

Are central banks really so dangerous? Since it is funds from central banks that back all of the wars fought since the inception of central banks, yes, they are.

What caused the American Revolution? We American kids were told in elementary school that it was a tax on tea and so there was a tea party on board a British ship that tossed tons of the stuff into Boston's Harbor. King George III's Currency Act is what caused the Revolution. It forced colonists to use printed bank notes borrowed from the Bank of England (that nation's central bank).

Benjamin Franklin said "The refusal of King George the 3rd to allow the colonies to operate an honest money system, which freed the ordinary man from the clutches of the money manipulators, was probably the prime cause of the revolution."

Most of us have heard the Mayer Amschel Rothschild quote: "Let me issue and control a nation's money and I care not who makes the laws." In 1791, the international bankers succeeded in setting up the First Bank of the United States... a central bank. By the end of its 20 year charter, Rothschild's chief U.S. supporter, Alexander Hamilton, working with the First Bank, had just about ruined the nation's economy – but the bankers did very well.... a bit similar to our current situation on Wall Street and too big to jail banks. When Congress refused to renew the charter of First Bank, Nathan Mayer Rothschild told the U.S. Government that "Either the application for renewal of the charter is granted, or the United States will find itself involved in a most disastrous war." Congress refused to obey – and we had the war of 1812 to "re-colonize" us, as a result. After the war (which we won), Congress granted a new charter for another private bank, forcing we the people to pay interest on the currency issued (it was issued as a loan).

America went into debt yet again because of the Second Bank of the United States and in 1832 Andrew Jackson won his re-election bid for the presidency using the slogan "Jackson And No Bank!" He succeeded in blocking the renewal of the charter. That central bank lasted from 1816 to 1836. Thus, until the unlawful Federal Reserve Act of 1913, out of our near 250 year history, the United States had a central bank for only 40 years. We do quite nicely without them... the people certainly prosper more without them. Andrew Jackson told those promoting the Second Bank, "...you have used the funds of the bank to speculate in the breadstuffs of the country. When you won, you divided the profits amongst you, and when you lost, you charged it to the bank." He added, "You are a den of vipers and thieves..." It should be a comfort to all of us that some things never change, but in this instance, it is not.

If we don't learn from history, we are bound to repeat it... welcome to the financial crisis of 2007.

Bankers offered to bring the South back into the union after secession occurred, but they would charge 30 percent interest to do so. Lincoln told the bankers he would not free the black man by enslaving the white man to the bankers. Lincoln promptly issued the greenback which became a direct threat to the wealth and power of central bankers.

The London Times responded to Lincoln's decision to issue greenbacks to finance the Civil War rather than take the bankers' money at 30 percent by saying: "If this mischievous financial policy, which has its origin in North America, shall become endured down to a fixture, then that Government will furnish its own money without cost. It will pay off debts and be without debt. It will have all the money necessary to carry on its commerce. It will become prosperous without precedent in the history of the world. The brains and wealth of all countries will go to North America. That country must be destroyed or it will destroy every monarchy on the globe."

Lincoln was, of course, assassinated.

Then came 1913 and The Creature From Jekyll Island (as it is so eloquently titled by G. Edward Griffin's book). President Woodrow Wilson promised he would sign the Federal Reserve Act in return for generous campaign contributions and he did. He later regretted his decision, stating:

"A great industrial nation is controlled by its system of credit. Our system of credit is concentrated. The growth of the nation, therefore, and all our activities are in the hands of a few men. We have come to be one of the worst ruled, one of the most completely controlled and dominated governments in the civilized world. No longer a government by free opinion, no longer a government by conviction and the vote of the majority, but a government by the opinion and duress of a small group of dominant men." ~ Woodrow Wilson, 1919

The next year, World War I started... and we should remember that there was no such thing as a "world war" until the creation of the Federal Reserve. Many things happened... the Weimar Republic was born and rampant inflation in Germany forced the payment of wages by the day (sometimes the hour) because the cost of goods was inflating so fast people needed money to buy what they could afford before it went higher by day's end. The Weimar Republic became an economic disaster area and National Socialists took power. They issued their own state currency... a monetary system that did not involve central bankers. Germany thrived without the debtist ideals of central banks and began rebuilding its industry. Though socialists love to point at the economic success of Germany under the National Socialist party, it was the lack of a German central bank and resultant perpetual interest on debt that caused the nation to blossom, not socialist philosophies.

Then we had World War II and in his book Wall Street and the Rise of Hitler, Professor Antony Sutton documents the role played by Morgan, Rockefeller, General Electric, Standard Oil, National City Bank, Chase and Manhattan Banks, Kuhn, Loeb and Company, General Motors, Ford and other industrialists when it came to financing the Nazis. Wall Street funded the Nazis and that was proven by Sutton who provided bank statements, letters from American Ambassadors, Congressional Records, quotes from Congressional investigations, and statements made at the Nuremberg trials.

I have written articles about I.G. Farben, the corporate giant chemical firm that produced Zyklon B gas used in Nazi extermination camps... and, simultaneously, was sold as a treatment for lung cancer in the United States. Max Warburg, a major German banker, and his brother, Paul Warburg, part of the Jekyll Island group that established the Federal Reserve System, were directors of I.G. Farben.

Hitler's financing was managed by the Warburg-controlled Mendelsohn Bank of Amsterdam as well as the J. Henry Schroeder Bank in Frankfurt, London and New York. One interesting note there, too. Chief legal counsel to Schroeder Bank was Sullivan and Cromwell whose senior partners included John Foster and Allen Dulles. John Foster Dulles, of course, served for six years as America's Secretary of State under the Eisenhower Administration.

There are some interesting quotes from Winston Churchill regarding Germany, comments that could certainly be construed as motivational suggestions for World War II... and possibly future wars regarding any nation that wants to free itself from the power of the international central banking system. For example:

"Once again, Germany's industrial output became a threat to Great Britain. Should Germany merchandise (do business) again in the next 50 years we have led this war (WW1) in vain." - Winston Churchill in The Times (1919)

"We will force this war upon Hitler, if he wants it or not." - Winston Churchill (1936 broadcast)

"Germany becomes too powerful. We have to crush it." - Winston Churchill (November 1936 speaking to US - General Robert E. Wood)

"This war is an English war and its goal is the destruction of Germany." - Winston Churchill (- Autumn 1939 broadcast)

"The war wasn't only about abolishing fascism, but to conquer sales markets. We could have, if we had intended so, prevented this war from breaking out without doing one shot, but we didn't want to."- Winston Churchill to Truman (Fultun, USA March 1946).

"Germany's unforgivable crime before WW2 was its attempt to loosen its economy out of the world trade system and to build up an independent exchange system from which the world-finance couldn't profit anymore. ...We butchered the wrong pig." -Winston Churchill (The Second World War - Bern, 1960)

Churchill's comments came because Germany's currency was state-issued and represented a direct threat to the wealth and power of the world's central banks. A global boycott against Germany designed to strangle it financially because it wanted to run its economy without a central banking system tied to the rest of the international community was being put in place as early at 1933. The rest of us were dragged along into World War II. A great deal of American blood was left on European soil because Great Britain wanted to "conquer sales markets" and maintain a tight control of the world's financial system... because the English Monarchy was tied so tightly to the central banks throughout Europe – central banks which also served Monarchies.

On July 7, 1993, the day Ambassador Leo Wanta was arrested in Lausanne, Switzerland, the debt of the United States was $4,337,775,212,166.64. He had access to and control of $27.5 trillion... and he was just too much of a threat to a puny Federal Reserve System that only controlled $4.3 trillion of U.S. debt. You don't suppose the Federal Reserve viewed him as a dangerous potential competitor, do you? I personally believe that was one of the primary reasons for the assault on Wanta – in Wisconsin and in Switzerland.

Hopefully, readers will realize that this unlawful Federal Reserve System is the same one that made $4.5 trillion belonging to Ambassador Lee Emil Wanta disappear when it was SWIFT wire transferred to Wanta's AmeriTrust account at Bank of America in Richmond, Virginia in May 2006. The Central Intelligence Agency is the same one that, once it had Wanta safely ensconced behind bars, went to the bankers of the world to tell them Wanta was dead and they should release any funds they had on deposit in his name to them. This has been a very long, very dangerous and very lonely fight for Lee Wanta. His name and reputation have been devastated within his family and his home town. He has been put in prison for non-existent crimes. Attempts on his life continue, and for what?

Think what might have happened had there been decent media coverage of what happened to Wanta in 1993 in Switzerland or in 1995 in Madison, Wisconsin when his unlawful criminal trial was held. When you read the newspaper articles written about the trial, it is apparent to people who have read this book that the articles were written by shills owned by the Wisconsin political establishment.

Think what might have happened had you learned of his funds being available to pay the total debt of the American people... owed to an unlawful central bank called the Federal Reserve. And that is the reason for the Federal Reserve history lesson, above. This is his enemy – it is also the people's enemy. We share that with Lee Wanta.

One of the important elements of this book is the historic overview it provides. We can look at the moment when Leo Wanta, Secret Agent, was immediately placed in danger: Well, he had always been in danger... but I refer to danger from his own country – the country he had served honorably for so many years. That moment came when President George Herbert Walker Bush was making his last trip around the world just before leaving office and discovered that Ronald Reagan's favorite junkyard dog, Leo Wanta, and his partner, Kok Howe Kwong, owned Aneko Credit Pte Ltd in Singapore, and according to Wanta, Bush demanded half of the assets the two partners had amassed. When Mr. Kwong vehemently refused to play that game and insulted President Bush in the process, he died two weeks later of rat poison. General Vernon Walters (with whom Wanta often traveled) informed Leo Wanta that a hit had been put out on him that same night and it was only by the Grace of God that Wanta was able to avoid it.

This same historic perspective tells us when our intelligence agencies became compromised and who compromised them. It tells us that a secret agent named Wanta who was identifying drug shipments from Asia and getting them stopped was cutting off the income stream of certain intelligence agencies. We can look at the $1 billion note found by Wanta and sent to the Secret Service and realize when phony Treasury instruments began showing up in Asia.

The crime – the evil – could have been stopped at that time. Can it be stopped now? I believe Lee Wanta thinks it can. I do not. History tells me – look at the quotes about Germany above and how the world was dragged into a war because that nation was trying to break away from the Rothschild-controlled financial cabal of central banks – that until the rot implodes on itself (as evil always does, in the end analysis) and it can be cleared away, it will be impossible to build anything of lasting value. One cannot build something strong on a weak base. When the system fails, it will bring great pain upon a very spoiled people who are not used to having empty supermarket shelves or no electricity and heat.

The same historic perspective tells me that the Clinton Administration intentionally broke up the progress Ambassador Wanta was making in Somalia. Remember, his arrest came very quickly after he told Swiss bankers that Somalia was going to borrow against the gold rather than sell it to them.

Since 1991, Somalia underwent several changes in leadership. The current President is Sharif Ahmed, who was elected in January 2009. In May 1991, the northwestern area of Somalia, known as Somaliland, declared its independence. It is still unrecognized by any other nation or international organization, but has experienced relatively stable peace since 1991.

In 1992, the United States and other nations launched Operation Restore Hope. Led by the Unified Task Force (UNITAF), the operation tried to ensure the delivery of needed supplies to Somalis suffering from the effects of the protracted civil war. UNITAF was followed by the United Nations Operation in Somalia (UNOSOM). The United States played a major role in both operations until 1994... just months after Wanta was returned to the United States by Switzerland after his unlawful arrest there.

In 1991, after the collapse of the Barre regime, various Somali factions tried to gain control of the national territory while other factions opposed the presence of foreign troops. In October 1993, local gunmen and peacekeepers exchanged gunfire in several battles – 24 Pakistani and 19 U.S. soldiers were lost. The Battle of Mogadishu was the biggest of those battles and most of the Americans died there – the book and movie Black Hawk Down are based on the battles fought in Mogadishu.

In May of 1993, just two months before his unlawful arrest in Switzerland, Leo Wanta was appointed by Somali President Haji to be that nation's Ambassador to both Canada and Switzerland – and he was appointed as Somalia's Central Bank Chairman. His Ambassadorial Investiture occurred in Paris, in June 1993. He worked with President Haji to plan for infrastructure investments in Somalia: Fresh water, electricity, the dredging of a warm-water port for a U.S. Navy presence, an overhaul of the airport on behalf of the U.S. Air Force. Highways were to be built, the city was to be electrified, and hospitals updated and refined... the plans for progress would have prevented the ongoing downward spiral of Somalia into a nation where its citizens became pirates on the open seas.

The UN withdrew from Mogadishu on March 3, 1995, having suffered even more casualties. Ambassador Leo Wanta was put through a criminal trial in Madison, Wisconsin (which had no jurisdiction to try him) from May 8th through May 11th 1995. Do you see the parallels?

Wanta's 1993 plans would have provided a rapid deployment force capability for the United States military to better protect the Middle East and, had Wanta's plans been implemented, we might never have had to sacrifice the lives of our young men and women in Iraq and Afghanistan in a search for “weapons of mass destruction.” As I said in the chapter about Somalia, those responsible for pulling the unlawful rug out from under Ambassador Leo Wanta have blood on their hands for their part in ruining plans to work with the Somali political structure to build an American-friendly nation that could have helped avoid war in the Middle East. Saddam would have never dared attack Kuwait in August 1990... but that would have disappointed the central banks of the world who have been making all kinds of money by the over-spending of their nations, paying the costs of unnecessary wars.

The Somali government had 167 metric tonnes of gold bullion and planned to sell it to the gold cartel in Switzerland. Somalia’s President Haji needed the money to feed his people. Instead, Leo Wanta recommended borrowing the money needed for food, using the gold as loan collateral. When you’ve got 167 metric tonnes of gold and your people need food, you don’t delay trying to feed your people so the political process can create the needed government support system.

In recent years, Ethiopian forces inside Somalia have fought to regain control of most of southern Somalia. As most Americans who read newspapers are aware, Somali pirates are a major threat to international shipping and business. This appears to result from a long-term absence of authority in the country... in fact, that “long-term absence of authority” can be tied directly to the day Ambassador Leo Emil Wanta, Somalia’s Ambassador to Switzerland and to Canada, was arrested by the Swiss and put in Dungeon #130 for 134 days in Lausanne, Switzerland, with no charges filed against him. It should be noted that Switzerland has no tax treaty allowing them to arrest Americans for non-payment of taxes.

History tells us that had Wanta not been arrested in Switzerland for bogus tax charges in Wisconsin, there probably would not have been a Black Hawk Down movie to be made because the violence that began soon after the arrest resulted from the hunger of the people. Had Leo Wanta not been arrested, the hunger would never have occurred. I have never been able to find what happened to the 167 metric tonnes of gold bullion against which Wanta wanted to borrow to solve the hunger problem in Somalia. Did the Swiss take it? Wanta had the gold certificates with him when he met with Swiss bankers regarding the loan to Somalia... and they admitted to taking his money when they returned him to the United States after unlawfully arresting him. Hmmm...

From Leo Wanta’s involvement as Ambassador to the Principality of Snake Hill and his relationship with Princess Paula, we learned a lesson about which more Americans need to become familiar: Sovereignty and secession. So many people seem to think sovereignty (which must be attained before secession can be successful) merely means saying “Texas (or Missouri or Colorado or Utah) is a sovereign State!” It goes far beyond that! There are four basics that must be present for sovereignty to be accepted internationally. 1) A defined territory; 2) A defined population; 3) A military or police force sufficient to protect both territory and population; and, 4) A financial system sufficient to manage the seceded territory’s economy. Chapter Thirteen went on to discuss the importance of state-owned banks as a solution to the too centralized power of the Federal Reserve System.

On Blog Talk Radio, Princess Paula discussed resources available to people whose human rights are being violated. The United Nations Commission on Human Rights, for example, had a study done by Theo van Boven to define for nation states just what human rights were and what the penalties for violations of the defined human rights as stated in the report should be.

The van Boven Report points specifically to Common Article 3 of the Geneva Conventions of August 12, 1949 which lays out minimum humanitarian standards that must be respected “at any time and in any place whatsoever.” These humanitarian standards categorically prohibit:

- a. Violence to life and person, in particular murder of all kinds, mutilation, cruel treatment and torture;

- b. The taking of hostages;
- c. Outrages upon personal dignity, in particular humiliating and degrading treatment;
- d. The passing of sentences and the carrying out of executions without previous judgment pronounced by a regularly constituted court, affording all the judicial guarantees which are recognized as indispensable by civilized peoples.

Van Boven continues by discussing the categories of customary violations of human rights based on customary international law. He says "A State violates international law if, as a matter of State policy, it practices, encourages or condones: a.) Genocide; b) slavery or slave trade; c) the murder or causing the disappearance of individuals; d) torture or other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment; e) prolonged arbitrary detention; f) systematic racial discrimination; g) a consistent pattern of gross violations of internationally recognized human rights."

It takes only a brief glance of these two lists to see the many recognized ways in which Leo Emil Wanta's rights were, according to United Nations definitions of human rights, violated. Cruel and degrading treatment by the Swiss in du Bois Prison, Lausanne heads the list. They put him in solitary confinement in Dungeon Room 130 for 134 days, no charges were ever filed. Causing the disappearance of individuals might be placed second... though they don't mention the cruel and inhuman treatment involved in stealing his funds by telling the world Wanta was dead. There was cruel and degrading treatment as someone who was guilty of no crime was chained like an animal and put on public display in airplanes and airports. Prolonged arbitrary detention? Certainly, again in Switzerland and then again in the United States – Wisconsin kept Wanta imprisoned from November 17, 1993 until May 8, 1995 before putting him on trial for non-payment of estimated civil income taxes which had been paid twice (once in May, once in June) of 1992.

We Americans tend to dislike intensely the United Nations. They, after all, are the promoters of Agenda 21 and other New World Order/World Government agendas. On the other hand, if such an organization is taking up space in New York City, and if they offer relief to millions of Americans whose homes have been unlawfully foreclosed wherein banks have paid millions of dollars in fines by the States who seem to find a way to keep most of the proceeds from the fines, why not utilize the services made available by the United Nations under its Human Rights programs? At the very least, it would let the rest of the world know what crooks occupy Wall Street, the banks thereon, and the members of Congress who, in violation of their Oaths of Office, allow the corruption and fraud. And, it might keep the United Nations so busy it wouldn't have time to make mischief around the world.

Alors, est-ce fini? Or, as we Americans might ask: "So, is it over? The obvious answer is, this book documenting the life of this remarkable man is over, but the life of this remarkable man will, as Lee Wanta says, continue until his Lord and God calls him home. Hopefully, this book and other written materials about Lee Wanta will cause historians to remind people around the world to keep the hope that shines so brightly from his soul for his beloved country to live beyond the time his physical life on earth ends.

Lee Wanta is a man walking around with a large target painted on his back. He is always in danger and is constantly surrounded by security. He has Type 2 diabetes and a right bundle branch (electrical) block (RBBB) of the heart... the result of so many years of stress. He was 73 years old on June 11, 2013.

His lifestyle is difficult.

"It's quiet," he said when he called one morning in 2010. "Totally quiet. I've talked with the utility company and called to get the weather and I've called you. That's it."

His phone usually doesn't stop ringing on any given day. The evening before, his security guards had been suddenly removed. A call came saying they were to report back to their headquarters. It's one of the psychological games they've played with him since we first began communicating. This wasn't the first time it happened. He was telling me how quiet things were with none of the guards around.

I laughed, not knowing whether to be flattered that I was on such a short call list, or insulted because I was on the same list as the weather (and noted it preceded me on the list).

"Are they playing psychological games?" I asked.

"Yeah. Psyops. I took the classes. Let the games begin," he told me.

That conversation continued as we discussed quotes about the Rule of Law. We'd been talking about the Rule of Law the night before and his email had been hacked and I hadn't been able to send the quotes to him so I read them aloud.

From the first day our conversations began, I have never known on any given day where Lee was as we spoke. Every telephone conversation we have ever had was recorded by... at least one intelligence agency. Any email I send to him goes through at least one and usually two military intelligence computer systems before it is delivered. His emails to me go through the same system. Here are the rest of my notes regarding that conversation:

"We talked about a couple of other small things and he told me he was going to put on his sunglasses and go for a walk. He's alone, with no security. It scares me. Is that God's plan? He has brought Lee so far! I cannot believe He intends to let it end violently on a street corner – though it would be the easiest way for them to escape the complications of a man named Wanta. It would cause a downpour from a satellite of a lot of unwanted information about "them" that has, to date, been withheld. They have grown so arrogant, though. They believe themselves to be unassailable."

"We talked five times on Monday and four times on Tuesday. We talked only once on Wednesday, the day before I left for Denver. Lee called about 5 p.m. He'd been testifying before a Committee all week – I think by video. Tom Heneghan's Intelligence Briefing noted that Lee is under the protection of the U.S. Marshals. Heneghan mentioned the name of two Committees, both having to do with national security, about which average people are hearing nothing on television or in the print media."

Many of our conversations dealt with comments made to Lee by those who were negotiating with him about his funds. He was always surprised by how much "they" hated him. We had many conversations about this. From his perspective, he has served his nation with dignity and honor using the skills, both God-given and self-taught, that he has acquired since he was born in Stevens Point, Portage County, Wisconsin. To "them," those who negotiate for the "other side," he represents what they can never be: Men of constitutional integrity who serve the people rather than a political position.

Leo/Lee Emil Wanta takes those precious pieces of paper – the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States of America – very seriously. He has discussed with me the sudden sense of terror he had when he took his Oath of Office, realizing the lifelong commitment he was making to his country. Lee takes that Oath not just seriously, but as an Eleventh Commandment. In all of his efforts relative to negotiating about the funds he justly earned and to which he is entitled, he negotiates from the power position of the Rule of Law – the Constitution. He negotiates from the position of a man committed to his country and as someone who took seriously a promise to a man he considered his good friend, President Ronald Wilson Reagan, to use the money he earned to help the people of America when the time came and the people would need that help.

That time has come... it is now.

"They" put on a good façade, acting as if they are men of honor... probably believing they are men of honor. They overlook the long list of people no longer alive because of decisions made at the highest levels of our government. Some people are pulled into the vortex, the whirlpool, of life circumstances without a moral compass. Lee Wanta has a moral compass and that is what "they" will never understand about him. To them, the deaths of individuals who stand in the way of "the greater good" as defined by a single individual or group of individuals destined to prosper by the death of someone who can cause them harm because of what they know can be rationalized as mere "collateral damage."

To Lee, these people "they" consider "collateral damage" (including one dear member of his own family who was lost... the reason he agreed to accept the $4.5 trillion rather than fight on for the $27.5 trillion – a family member closest to him and next to whom he will one day be buried) were and are human beings entitled to all of those human rights so beautifully described by the United Nations van Boven Report but which are totally ignored by greedy minds and corrupted, bloody hands. It is no wonder "they" hate him. Evil is always intimidated by good; wrong is always overcome by right... probably not in the time sequence most of us who live in the physical plane desire, but evil and wrong always implode on themselves. They gain no muscles to support a backbone because they fight for nothing... they intimidate and lie and steal for everything. Because good must always fight evil it always wins, in the long run... it builds the muscles required to support a backbone.

Lee has spoken often of the friends he lost: Kok Howe Kwong, a man Lee Wanta still calls "brother," is at the top of the list. After him come names you and I have probably never heard: Freddie Woodruff, a CIA Case Officer involved with AmeriTrust and New Republic/USA Financial Group. Woodruff had full working knowledge of certain intelligence operations and surveillance funded by AmeriTrust, Aneko Credit Pte Limited, Asian-Europa Development Group Ltd, and other of Wanta's Title 18 Section 6 corporations. Another lost friend of whom most people have never heard is Francois de Grosseurve, a French politician to whom newly-elected French President Francois Mitterrand gave responsibility for France's national security and other sensitive matters. Grosseurve was particularly involved with intelligence matters involving Lebanon, Syria, Tunisia, Morocco, and other Persian Gulf countries... North and South Korea, too. He was also in charge of the French branch of Gladio, NATO's "stay-behind" paramilitary secret armies (during the Cold War). He was found dead with gunshot wounds at the Palais de l'Elysée, the French President's official residence. The official verdict was suicide... as it was for another friend of Wanta's, Vincent Walker Foster, Jr., Deputy White House Counsel under the Clinton-Gore Administration and a personally close friend of Hillary Clinton (a partner at her former law firm in Arkansas). Few Americans – those with their heads buried deepest in the sand (or any other more convenient place) – accept suicide as the cause of Foster's death.

This book, WANTA! Black Swan, White Hat (formerly Americans: Wanta Be Free), could have been a thousand pages long. Ambassador Wanta has lived a highly complex and very complicated life. It has been my objective to provide the truth regarding a man about whom so much disinformation has been written over the years. One of the most difficult parts of being the "official biographer" for Lee Emil Wanta has been trying to keep the biography on track... starting at a specific point and moving to the next logical place. The book could have taken us to the Republic of Vanuatu (where Wanta once knocked General Vernon Walters to the floor and landed on top of him when "the signal of a white handkerchief" was given by the appropriate party in the restaurant where they dined – a signal indicating gunfire would quickly follow) or it could have taken us to other secret places where Wanta was involved with protecting people with highly recognizable names... Colonel Colin Powell's name during his White House assignment comes to mind as do numerous other examples... one or two who now sit on the Supreme Court of America. The point is, though these people and the reason Leo Wanta was involved with them would have made wonderful James Bond-type reading, they would have detracted from the basic details and facts of what I perceived was the biography that needs to be told. Too, if you are at all familiar with the normal publishing process, when something is written there is normally two or three editing processes... to sharpen the text. Writing a chapter of a book that involves a great deal of research and finding documents to link to text each week has taken so much time, there was little to no time to do any editing and rewriting. Thus, readers got text that is, for the most part, unedited. For that, the author apologizes. The text could have been made far more interesting and readable had time been available.

The purpose of this book has been to educate people as to the level of greed and corruption that runs the government of our beautiful United States of America and to tell you the story of one man who stands strong on behalf of the people of this nation. The explanation contained in the above paragraph makes it sound as if all of the dull things about court cases and unlawful occurrences used to "bring down" and "muzzle" this great American patriot were included, and all of the juicy U.S. Secret Agent stuff that Ian Fleming would have found fascinating content for one of his 007 books was left out. To some degree that is accurate. It may be the lack of skill of the author (who is totally inexperienced in writing biographies) to find a way to include both the interesting adventures Wanta had along the way AND detailed information about what caused the fall of Leo/Lee Emil Wanta and the lost opportunities to the world resulting from his loss of access to the $27.5 trillion he lawfully earned, but I could find no way to include both and keep on track with the story line of Wanta's life. Only someone who knows all of the stories and the side-streets they can take you down will understand that statement, but it is true. "Captain America" is an accurate portrayal.

In typical Wanta style, Lee recently made available to me the best possible ending to this book: The only video taped interview of him that is available anywhere. Here is Ambassador Lee/Leo Emil Wanta with a 25-minute YOUTUBE INTERVIEW (the total interview is two hours long and this is just a portion of it made available). Let him end this book by telling you, in person, his thoughts about what happened and why.

WANTA YOUTUBE INTERVIEW, circa 2013

A Roman poet who wrote in the late 1st century and the early 2nd century, known in English as "Juvenal," (his full name is Decimus Iunius Iuvenalis) said (in Latin, of course): "Rara avis in terris nigroque simillima cygno" ("a rare bird in the lands, very much like a black swan").

He was right. Leo/Lee Emil Wanta is, indeed, a rare bird.

Regardless of the reason for the ending, c'est fait. It is done. I leave you with the words Lee uses to end almost all of our telephone conversations: "God Bless."
